

The APAGS Workbook: A Comprehensive Guide to Writing Successful Applications and Finding the Right Fit in Graduate School

The workbook is divided into four main sections:

1. Planning Your Application: This section provides an overview of the graduate school application process, including timelines, deadlines, and the different types of programs available. It also includes helpful tips on choosing the right programs for you and narrowing down your list of schools.
2. Writing Your Application Materials: This section provides detailed guidance on writing strong personal statements, letters of recommendation, and research proposals. It includes sample essays and letters, as well as tips on how to highlight your strengths and make your application stand out.
3. Finding the Right Fit: This section helps you to identify the graduate programs that are the best fit for your interests and goals. It includes information on program size, faculty research interests, and location. It also provides tips on how to visit schools and interview with potential mentors.
4. Additional Resources: This section provides a wealth of additional resources, including links to helpful websites, sample applications, and a forum where you can connect with other applicants.
